pirit Mountain Community Fund celebrated 25 years of giving by awarding close to $800,000 in grants to nonprofits and Oregon Tribes.

Grants were awarded during a 25th anniversary dinner celebration held at Spirit Mountain Casino on Saturday, July 30, with approximately 200 attendees that included past and present Tribal Council members, Elders, Hatfield Fellows, Spirit Mountain Community Fund employees and board members, as well as representatives from various nonprofits and several Oregon Tribes.

"It's great to see so many of you here tonight," Community Fund Director Angela Sears said. "I'm honored, blessed and very thankful for our nonprofit partners. We're here to recognize the contributions of those who came before us and the partnerships we have created over the years. Your leadership, vision, dedication and generosity has allowed us to create a positive change for the past 25 years."

The event began with a drum song by Tribal Council member Jon A. George, Tribal musician Jan Michael Looking Wolf Reibach and Tribal members Ty George and Anthony Quenelle.

The Grand Ronde Color Guard brought in the flags followed by members of Veterans and Grand Ronde Royalty. Jon A. George gave the invocation and Reibach performed a flute song.

Tribal Council member Denise Harvey, who also serves on the Community Fund Board of Trustees, said the fund was dedicated to honoring Tribal traditions of sharing and

New West Linn sign celebrates Tomanowos

EST LINN — Sixty years ago, the city of West Linn erected a replica marker of the famous Willamette Valley meteorite, Tomanowos. However, there was no mention of the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde anywhere in the marker's inscription.

In an effort to tell a more complete story of the meteorite's history, new interpretive signage was unveiled exactly 60 years later on Thursday, Aug. 4, outside the Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue Station 59 in West Linn, near where the meteorite ended up thousands of years ago.

The ceremony also marked the 60th anniversary of the original marker's installation.

Election Office open through Sept. 9

The Tribe's Election Board office opened on Monday, July 25, and will be open through Friday, Sept. 9.

Office hours are 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily with lunch from noon to 12:30 p.m.

The office is located in the Tribal Community Center, 9615 Grand Ronde Road, and the phone number is 503-879-2271.

Blank signature verification forms have been placed in a hanging basket outside the Elections Board office door. Completed signature verification forms — with a notarized signature or legible copy of ID, including your signature (driver's licenses, member ID card, passport, etc.) — need to be mailed to the Election Board for processing. The form will not be processed unless it has been notarized or includes a legible copy of ID and signature attached.

Ballots were mailed to voters with verified signatures on Wednesday, July 27. Tribal members can submit a verified signature card at any time up to and including Election Day on Saturday, Sept. 10.

The Grand Ronde post office is no longer open to accept ballots on Saturday, Sept. 10. For Tribal members' convenience, there will be a ballot box in the Governance Center during the election season and also on Election Day there will be a box in the Community Center where ballots can be dropped off.

Ballots will be available, as they have been in the past, for Tribal members who want to vote in person. It is the voter's responsibility to ensure their ballot is received by the Election Board on Election Day and allow for adequate time for the ballot to reach the Election Board by Sept. 10. ■

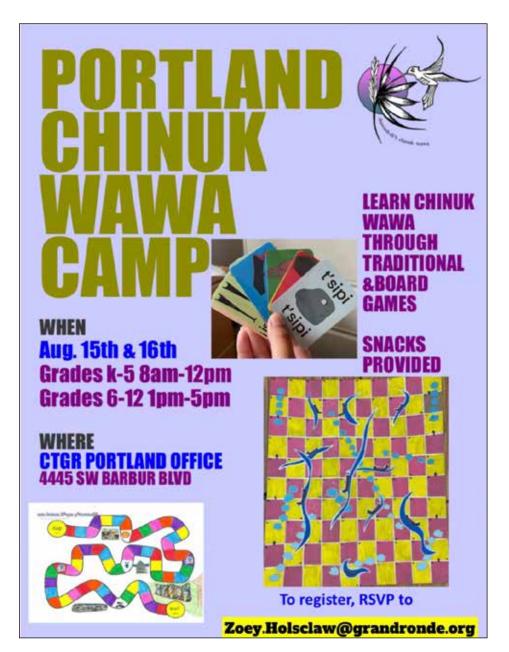

Clinic offering second COVID-19 booster doses

Tribal Health Services Executive Director Kelly Rowe announced that the Grand Ronde Health & Wellness Center is offering a second COVID-19 booster dose of the Moderna vaccine for people 50 and older who are at least four months beyond their previous booster dose.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is recommending that people with compromised immune systems age 12 and older also receive boosters. However, Rowe added, Tribal health care staff are recommending people consult with their providers to make that decision.

Rowe said that immunity tends to wane after three months and that people who had received a booster dose of the vaccine were 21 times less likely to die and seven times less likely to be hospitalized during the recent omicron variant surge of COVID-19.

To schedule an appointment for a second booster shot, contact the Tribal clinic at 503-879-2032. ■

Food Bank news

The Grand Ronde Food Bank – iskam məkhmək haws – is operated by Marion-Polk Food Share, which has been leading the fight to end hunger since 1987 because no one should be hungry.

Recipients of SNAP, TANF, SSI or LIHEAP assistance automatically qualify for assistance at the Grand Ronde Food Bank, 9675 Grand Ronde Road. No one will be turned away in need of a food box.

"We believe that everyone deserves to have enough to eat," Food Bank Coordinator Francene Ambrose says. "You are welcome to get a food box at each of our regular weekly distributions. No one will be turned away in need of a food box."

The Food Bank will hold August food box distributions from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Fridays. In addition, there is a light food box (mostly bread and produce) distribution from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesdays.

People must check in 15 minutes before closing to receive a food box on both days. If you need immediate assistance, call 211 or visit 211info.org.

Those who are unable to pick up a food box can fill out an authorized representative form and that designated person can pick up a food box on your behalf. The authorization is good for one year.

The Food Bank continues to seek volunteers to help with repacking food, putting food on the shelves, handing out food boxes, end-of-month inventory and picking up food donations at area stores.

Call to ensure someone is available to assist. People also can sign up for a monthly e-mail for the Food Bank calendar and events, as well as follow the Food Bank on Facebook.

The Food Bank is an equal opportunity provider.

Call Ambrose at 503-879-3663 or contact her at fambrose@marionpolkfoodshare.org for more information or to volunteer. ■

2017 – In an effort to continue improving communication with Tribal members, the Tribe was starting a LISTSERV service that would allow for multiple e-mail distribution groups to be established for different types of information. The first distribution groups would be for Tribal Council News, which would include agendas for meetings as well as other general Tribal news. Tribal Council Chief of Staff Stacia Hernandez said if interest was high enough, more lists would be added for different areas of Tribal business.

2012 - The Grand Ronde Canoe Family completed its annual journey with the Paddle to Squaxin Island, which began at Wallace Marine Park in Salem and ended in Kamilche, Wash., several days later. "It gets tough," Tribal member Kyoni Mercier, 14, said. "But I keep praying and thinking about what our ancestors went through. There are Elders nowadays who are in wheelchairs, and they can't experience it." The Grand Ronde Tribe first participated in the annual northwest Tribal canoe journey in 2005.

when he signed his first state-Tribal proclamation in the Tribal Governance Building atrium. The proclamation was the first step toward giving Tribal members increased access to game for ceremonial purposes outside of state-mandated hunting and fishing seasons, as well as permitting the Tribe increased management of its own lands.

2002 – The Tribe held an open house for its new education complex on the Grand Ronde campus, which included a full-size gymnasium, library, youth education classrooms and preschool classrooms. With more than 30,000 square feet of space, the new campus was large enough to meet all of the Tribe's educational needs for the foreseeable future. "Our Tribal Council is very generous and supportive of the Education Division," Tribal Education Director Marion Mercier said. "This building is a tribute to their dedication to education. It's very much a worthwhile investment."

1997 – Tribal Cultural Resources Protection Specialist June Olson and other Tribal members visited the Fern Ridge area just outside of Eugene for a day of harvesting camas. The Cultural Resources program was in the process of creating a list of Tribal members throughout Oregon interested in traditional gathering and harvesting, with the ultimate goal of revitalizing camas fields on Reservation lands or on trust lands to be harvested on a yearly basis.

1992 – The Northwest Area Indian Health Board met in Newport for a two-day conference to discuss Native American health issues with Tribes all over the Northwest. Grand Ronde Health Program Representative Cheryle A. Kennedy went on behalf of the Tribe. The meeting focused on varied issues including HIV, drug/alcohol misuse and the Indian Health Service budget for the coming year.

Tomanowos fell from the sky more than 10,000 years ago

George opened the ceremony, which attracted approximately 30 people, with a prayer song and invocation.

He explained to the crowd that the meteorite's name, Tomanowos, means "sky people" in the Chinuk Wawa language. Tomanowos fell from the sky more than 10,000 years ago and came to what is now West Linn by way of the Bretz Floods. Clackamas Chinook Tribal peoples, who lived in the area, believed the meteorite was invested with divine properties and frequently visited it for ceremonial purposes.

"It's a being with power, we recognize that," George said. "The meteorite has always held significance for our people and continues to hold great spiritual and cultural meaning for our people. ... The Clackamas Tribes would place their hunting arrows in the meteorite for good fortune, and it also helped with medicinal healing. Today, it still holds a significant place in our hearts."

The new signage came about through the efforts of Historic Willamette Main Street, an organization whose mission is to "celebrate and preserve the rich history and natural beauty of the area."

Thursday's event was spearheaded by the group's secretary,

Seaneen Rudkin-Manning.

"I'm very pleased and thankful you came here today," she said. "It takes a lot of people doing a lot of hard work to make something look easy. There are a lot of people who have made this possible."

The new signage includes information about the origins of the name Tomanowos, how the meteorite came to rest in the Willamette Valley and how a Welsh immigrant logger name Ellis Hughes removed the 15.5-ton sculpted chunk of iron and nickel in 1902 and took it to his home nearby, charging visitors 25 cents admission to see it.

Hughes was forced to return the meteorite to Oregon Iron and Steel, which claimed ownership because it was removed from company-owned property. The company planned to melt it down, but that was averted after a New York philanthropist purchased Tomanowos for $20,600 in 1906 and shipped the 31,000-pound meteorite by train to New York City, where it was donated to the American Museum of Natural History.

In November 1999, the Grand

Ronde Tribe filed a claim for the meteorite, citing the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act of 1990. In 2000, the Tribe and museum reached an agreement that keeps Tomanowos in New York City and allows annual ceremonial access to Grand Ronde Tribal members.

The new signage mentions this agreement and includes a Smoke Signals photo of Tribal member Desirae Hernandez, then 7, interacting with Tomanowos before the last in-person private ceremony in 2019.

"I've had the honor to go to the Museum of Natural History and perform the ceremony," George said. "Tomanowos will always remain a very important spiritual object and someday may return to our homelands. Thank you for allowing us to be a part of this today."

West Linn City Manager John Williams thanked the Tribe for its partnership.

"You have been incredible partners and we're proud to be a part of that," he said.

Williams also mentioned his own connection to the meteorite.

"I have clear memories of visiting the Museum of Natural History and seeing the meteorite when I was young," he said. "I recall putting my hand on it and I think it is a very powerful thing. It also represents the heart and timelessness of this place."

Kennedy delivered the keynote address and emphasized that throughout the Tribe's history it has always given back to the community, even in personally dire circumstances.

"I'm honored to stand before you and talk about the wonderful work the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde have done," Kennedy said. "Our people have had so many struggles, but we have a rich culture. ... Our principles of giving are grounded in our history, to look past any situation and I believe that is why we are successful today. I believe that guided by our principles and values is that we help one another. ... Establishing the Spirit Mountain Community Fund was our way of giving back to the people who helped us."

Spirit Mountain Casino Chief Executive Officer Bruce Thomas recalled the "early days" of trying to get a Tribal casino built in the early 1990s.

"What I recall is an extraordinarily challenging time," Thomas said. "The Tribe had made the decision to pursue casino gaming and at the time there was nothing like it in the state of Oregon. Most Tribes who had established casinos elsewhere hired professional gaming companies and paid them a large amount of money. The proposals we got were not very good so we made the decision to try to do it ourselves."

Thomas said that the group had the skills but not the business experience, plus most of them were in their 30s or younger.

"We had to go and find someone to lend us $45 million so we could get the casino built," he said. "We were able to pull it off and get financing and 10 months after the conversation with John Hancock in Chicago, we were the first major casino in the state (in October 1995)."

casino decided to partner with the community and launched the Community Fund in 1997, where 6 percent of all casino proceeds are allocated to local nonprofits.

"It wasn't a hard decision to offer the Community Fund," Thomas said. "We were fortunate to have kind, fair people involved in that process. ... The message here is really about how much normal people can accomplish when they work well together."

Lazenby reflected on his years of service as a trustee.

"The past 15 years on this board have been some of the richest and most rewarding of my life," he said. "The real value of the fund is doing the quiet good things, and making things better for the community, people and Tribe."

After dinner concluded, 10 celebration grants for $5,000 each were announced by individual board members and Community Fund employees to recognize organizations providing "exceptional support and services in their communities."

The grants went to the Olalla Center, Oregon Justice Resource Center, Lutheran Community Services Northwest, Parrot Creek Child & Family Services, Willamette Vital Health, Salem Dream Center, Long Tom Watershed Council, McMinnville Area Habitat for Humanity, Boys & Girls Club of Western Lane County and the Dougy Center.

Additionally, five youth grant-making awards of $5,000 each were announced by DeLoe and Simmons for the Jackson Street Youth Shelter, Clara's Closet, Salem Free Clinics, SABLE House and Marion Polk Food Share, Inc.

Tribal Council OKs sending constitutional amendment to voters to limit disenrollments

By Dean Rhodes

Smoke Signals editor

Tribal voters will be asked on Tuesday, Nov. 1, to amend the Tribal Constitution to restrict how a Tribal member can be disenrolled to only cases of proven fraud or dual enrollment.

Tribal Council approved sending the proposal out to voters during its Wednesday, Aug. 10, meeting. It will be the eighth time since 1999 that Tribal voters will be asked to amend the Constitution. Only two proposals out of those previous seven votes that included 11 suggested amendments received the required two-thirds majority to alter the Tribe's Constitution.

The proposed constitutional amendment would amend Article V, Section 5 to limit involuntary loss of membership to fraud and dual enrollment, and remove the current language regarding loss of membership for failure to meet enrollment criteria.

Section 5 currently reads, "The Tribal Council shall by ordinance prescribe rules and regulations governing involuntary loss of membership. The reasons for such loss shall be limited exclusively to failure to meet the requirements set forth for membership in this Constitution."

Tribal Council Chairwoman Cheryle A. Kennedy said the creation of the proposed amendment has been a long process.

"Healing is what we are after," Kennedy said during the Tuesday, Aug. 9, Legislative Action Committee hearing.

Tribal Council Secretary Michael Langley read a statement at the beginning of the meeting, stating that Tribal Council believes the amendment is in the best interest of the Tribe.

(Bold signifies successful amendment elections)

It comes in reaction to the divisive disenrollment proceedings that occurred in 2015 during which 67 Tribal members were provisionally disenrolled. Eventually, the Tribal Court of Appeals ruled that the Tribal members who were identified for disenrollment because they allegedly did not meet enrollment criteria were to remain in the Tribe because the government had waited too long to start proceedings against them.

The proposed amendment has already been submitted to the Secretary of the Interior for preliminary review and nothing was found to prevent the proposal moving forward to a vote.

Unlike regular Tribal Council elections, a constitutional amendment election will be run by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, which will require Tribal members to register separately to vote. From there, at least 30 percent of those who register to vote must cast a ballot for the results to count and 66.7 percent of those voting must approve the amendment before it can change the Constitution.

In March 2015, Tribal voters were asked to remove the Bureau of Indian Affairs from supervising Grand Ronde constitutional amendment elections, but voters overwhelmingly rejected the idea with 62.4 percent wanting to retain federal oversight.

The Tribal Attorney's Office will submit the request for an election to the Department of the Interior on Sept. 12.

In other action, Tribal Council:

- Established Friday, Sept. 9, as the third per capita payment date of 2022;
- Approved applying for $26,459 in Natural Resources Conservation Service funding for conservation practices at the 62-acre Ahsney property located east of Basket Slough and north of Dallas. The Tribe acquired the conservation property in 2019;

- · Approved an agreement with the Affiliated Tribes of Northwest Indians' Economic Development Committee to administer approximately $1.2 million in federal funding to develop and implement small business credit support programs for Tribal member-owned businesses and Tribal enterprises. The funds were included in the American Rescue Plan enacted in March 2021;
- Sent proposed amendments to the Fish & Wildlife Ordinance out for a second reading, which will give Tribal members 30 days to comment. The ordinance's proposed amendments originally went out for a first reading in April and after receiving comments, the amendments were changed to reflect some of those concerns;
- · And approved the Finance Department hiring REDW LLC of Albuquerque, N.M., to conduct the Tribe's 2022 and 2023 independent audits.

Also included in the Aug. 10 Tribal Council packet were two approved authorizations to proceed that will allow demolition and removal of three local structures - the old post office, the old housekeeping structure and the Johns manufactured home – deemed to be in hazardous condition and directs the Finance Department to provide an additional $200,000 to the Tribe's small loan program to fund it through the end of 2022.

In an effort to be more efficient and reduce printing and postage costs, smok signəlz electronic subscribers receive a PDF (portable document format) version sent to them instead of a newsprint version sent via the mail. All you need on your computer is Adobe Acrobat or another program that can read a PDF and you're set.

Why would you want to do that? The PDF version is available before the newspaper is sent to our printing contractor in Salem. You can read the paper on your computer or print out a copy of individual pages yourself. And you will receive Tribal news much faster than the current standard mailing utilized by the Tribe.

If you would like to receive an e-mailed PDF version of smok signəlz and stop receiving a mailed newsprint version, send your e-mail to esubscription@grandronde.org. Stopping mailed delivery of the newspaper will not affect other Tribal mail. ■

Please e-mail deanne.norton@grandronde.org or call 503-879-2215 to receive your Investment Risk Assessment Recommendation Form. This is optional and open only to those who participate in the Rabbi and Minors' Custodial Trust Funds. ■

The awards, which included two first-place honors, were announced on Friday, July 29, during the association's annual convention held at the Mount Hood Resort in Welches.

Smoke Signals received a first place in the Best News Photo category for Timothy J. Gonzalez's photo of a Tribal youth receiving an immunization during last summer's event held by the Health & Wellness Department to get Tribal youth protected from the COVID-19 pandemic. In addition, graphic artist Samuel Briggs III won a first place in the Graphics category for his illustration called "The Money Shot," which accompanied a story about people who received COVID immunizations through the Tribe being entered in a statewide lottery to possibly win a monetary prize.

Smoke Signals also received four third-place awards: Tribal member Justin Phillips was honored for his work designing the newspaper; assistant editor/staff writer Danielle Harrison was honored for her Nov. 15 profile of Tribal member Silas Hoffer, who was named Mr. Montana Two Spirit; Briggs was again honored with an award for his ad promoting the 2021 Tribal Council Candidates Forum; and the entire staff was honored for its dedication to covering the Tribe in the Target Audience category.

The six awards are the most received in one year by Smoke Signals in the ONPA contest, surpassing the five awards received in 2019.

"Just another year and another massive set of awards," Editorial Board Chairwoman Mia Prickett said. "Congratulations to the entire staff."

"I continue to appreciate the quality and dedication the team shows," Editorial Board Secretary Andy Jenness said.

Smoke Signals was once again the only Tribal newspaper to be honored by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association for journalistic excellence in the Associate Member competition, which included submissions from The Portland Tribune and Salem-based agricultural newspaper The Capital Press.

"In this journalism competition, we are competing against some well-financed newspapers with larger staffs from throughout the state of Oregon," Editor Dean Rhodes said. "To receive six awards - almost one-third of all the awards given out in the Associate Member category – is quite an honor and a testament to the dedication of our seven-member staff. It also speaks volumes about the Grand Ronde Tribe and the support and cooperation we receive to consistently publish a quality newspaper for the membership."

The six awards, in addition to the recent two awards received by Smoke Signals from the Native American Journalists Association, brings the number of awards received by the Grand Ronde newspaper to 119 since 2008. ■

Watchlist: 'Missing in America: Inside Montana's Native American Community'

(Editor's note: It is estimated that there are approximately 149 billion videos on YouTube, and the number continues to grow. Grand Ronde Tribal member and Social Media/Digital Journalist Kamiah Koch sifts through those myriad videos twice a month to recommend a worthwhile Indigenous video to watch. Follow her bimonthly recommendations and enjoy!)

By Kamiah Koch

 $Social\ media/digital\ journalist$

An NBC News series called "Missing in America" was published on TODAY's YouTube channel, sharing one Native American woman's efforts to raise awareness for murdered and missing Indigenous people.

Chippewa Cree Tribal member Jen Buckley says she felt Indigenous people who have gone missing are not looked for the same way as other missing people.

"I think collectively it just doesn't seem like our Indigenous lives are as important as some others," Buckley says in the video.

Buckley wanted to raise awareness for an epidemic that had gone unnoticed for too long. She began taking photos of Indigenous people with a red hand print across their mouths.

"The paint is symbolic," reporter Harry Smith narrates. "It speaks of violence, of silence and resilience. It's art intended to have an impact to awaken a state, and a continent, to a tragedy of missing and murdered Indigenous women."

Once Buckley had this collection of photos she wanted to share them in a way that would capture people's attention. She began plastering them on billboards across Montana.

The billboards not only raise awareness for the "MMIW" movement, they also help find missing women.

Missoula, Mont., police detective Guy Baker is interviewed and he compares media coverage of missing white women versus Native women.

"Just look at that white female that went missing (Gabby Petito) and how many Native Americans in that same time period and there was nothing," Baker says. "Those billboards are a great way to bring awareness to this important issue."

If you would like to watch this video for yourself and see Buckley's billboards, you can go to https://youtu.be/QSG8ayP-5ag or find the video linked in Smoke Signal's "Watchlist" playlist on our YouTube channel. ■

Gordon William "Tim" Linton

Nov. 3, 1933 – July 27, 2022

Born in Willamina, Ore., to George (Dewey) and Geraldine (Toots Mercier), Tribal Elder Gordon William Linton grew up in Grand Ronde surrounded by his sister, Diane, and brother, Tommy. His best friends were his many cousins, making lifelong relationships.

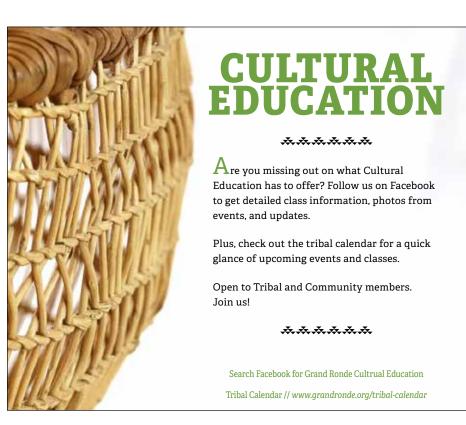

In the late 1950s, Tim moved his growing family to Brookings, Ore., looking for work. Always a hard worker, Tim worked in the local plywood mill, as a logger and a truck driver. As a truck driver, Tim found his calling, excelling as a truck boss. During this time, he received many awards for safe driving and taught others his skills.

He enjoyed hunting and camping with his boys, family and friends.

Upon his retirement, he and his wife, Caroline, relocated to McMinnville, Ore. These were the happiest years for them, socializing with family and friends.

Tim was preceded in death by his wife, Caroline, and sons, Mike and Gregg. He is survived by his brother, Tom; son, Les; and daughter, Christine; as well as numerous grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Placement of his ashes occurred on Friday, Aug. 12, at the Grand Ronde Cemetery for family. A celebration of life was held at Tom Linton's Grand Ronde home on Saturday, Aug. 13. All family and friends were invited.

Delores Jean Knight

Oct. 31, 1931 – July 25, 2022

Delores Jean Haller Knight was born on Oct. 31, 1931, in Corvallis, Ore., the daughter of Wilbur Daniel and Adeline E. Menard Haller.

She went to Heaven on July 25, 2022, in Grand Ronde, Ore. She was Kalapuya and a Grand Ronde Tribal Elder from the Haller-Menard family descended from Chief Joseph Sangretta.

"Mama was my greatest teacher; a teacher of compassion, love and fearlessness. If love is sweet as a flower, then my mother is that sweet flower of love." — Stevie Wonder

A true matriarch of a large and loving family, Delores (Odie) was immensely proud of her immediate family and of her extended family. If love does indeed build a bridge, she built one long enough to crisscross the world. She will be greatly missed.

She was raised in a very large family and had many brothers and sisters. She loved spending time gathered around the kitchen table playing cards and storytelling. You could count on seeing her beautiful smile and hear her laughing or speaking firmly to the slot machines on Monday nights.

Odie worked at canneries, Weyerhauser and in agriculture throughout her life, teaching her children that great things come from hard work. She took pride and comfort in keeping an immaculately clean household.

Odie was preceded in death by her husband, Claude W. Knight; daughter, Loretta A. Sisemore; and her granddaughter, Raeann Knight.

She is survived and greatly missed by her daughters, Brenda S. Gray of Grand Ronde, Ore., and Karen M. Plunges of Chewelah, Wash.; sons, William L. Knight of Cusick, Wash., Dennis C. Knight of Chewelah and Jesse R. Knight of Grand Ronde; and grandchildren, James W. Knight, Tricia L. Gray, Charles D. Gray Jr., Tangeline Dudt, Richard Hensley, Derrick Cooper, Dennis C. Knight Jr., Rebecca Alavarez, Rachael Knight, Faith Knight and Joseph Knight; 13 great-grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Graveside services were held Saturday, July 30, at the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde Cemetery, where she was laid to rest next to her husband. A meal at the Lighthouse Church immediately followed the services.

Gina Maria Grenia

June 29, 1979 – July 28, 2022

Tribal member Gina Maria Grenia, 43, of Albers, Ill., was born June 29, 1979, in Belleville, Ill., and walked on Thursday, July 28, 2022, at her residence.

She was preceded in death by a brother, Adam T. Wangelin; and her grandparents, Thomas Wangelin Sr., Ben Rinehart, and Trudy and Carroll Grenia.

She is survived by her mother, Cynthia L. (nee Rinehart) Wangelin; daughter, Aubrey Maldonado; son, Michael Maldonado; father, William C. Grenia; fiancé, Barry Cannady; brothers, Thomas C. Wange-lin III and Robert Gibbs; grandparents, Virginia and Daryl Hobbs and Patricia A. Wangelin; stepfather, Thomas C. Wangelin Jr.; and numerous uncles and aunts.

Condolences can be expressed to the family online at www.rennerfh.com. A visitation was held Thursday, Aug. 4, at George Renner & Sons Funeral Home in Belleville, Ill., and a memorial service was held later that same day with Chaplain Jason Pierce officiating.

Other passings

Ernest Leroy Smith

March 28, 1957 – July 27, 2022

Tribal Elder Ernest L. Smith walked on Wednesday, July 27, 2022, at the age of 65 in a Boise, Idaho, area hospital. Bowman Funeral Parlor in Garden City, Idaho, is assisting the family.

He is survived by his brother, Bernard Scott Smith, and older sister, Angie M. Smith. At his request, there will not be any formal services.

Dakota Hoffman

March 19, 1995 - July 31, 2022

Tribal Adult Foster Care employee Dakota Hoffman walked on July 31, 2022, at the age of 27 at her home in Dallas, Ore.

Dakota was a loving caregiver who cared deeply for her residents and her co-workers. She was very outgoing and loved being outdoors. She loved being with family and riding her ATV on the sand. She also enjoyed spending time with her dogs, horses and, most of all, her boyfriend Michael. She was a very positive, kind and all-around great person. She will be greatly missed.

A celebration of life was held Sunday, Aug. 14, at North Albany Park in Albany, Ore. Restlawn Memory Gardens & Funeral Home of Salem, Ore., assisted the family.

This handout contains information everyone should know about fentanyl.

The facts

- Fentanyl is a powerful opioid, 50–100 times more potent than heroin
- Fentanyl gets added into many drugs, including "normal looking" pills
- A pill containing fentanyl can look exactly like a pill without fentanyl
- Two pills with different amounts of fentanyl can look exactly the same
- Many people don't realize they are taking fentany
- Fentanyl is causing a dramatic increase in
- · Anyone who uses drugs can overdose, even if it's their first time or if they have been using for

Naloxone

Naloxone (Narcan or Kloxxado) can reverse a entanyl overdose. Fentanyl is a strong opioid, so you may need multiple (3, 4, or more) doses of one. The biggest risk in giving someone too of If you have gloves and a mask, wear them for extra safety. You've got to breathe in a VERY LARGE amount of fentanyl over a REALLY LONG time to even begin to feel its effects - like dust-storm levels in a closed room for over 3 hours.

Help people who are overdosing

If you get fentanyl powder on you

Dry fentanyl powder is not absorbed by skin. Your skin will only absorb fentanyl powder if it's mixed with a liquid.

Don't touch your mouth or eyes where fentanyl can be easily absorbed

Flush with water (to dilute the fentanyl)

What can I do?

- Share the facts without judgment
- Learn how to use naloxone and always keep it with you
- Help people who are overdosing
- Encourage the people in your life who use drugs not to use alone, always have naloxone, and accept treatment when they are ready
- Make sure your tribe/clinic offers fentanyl testing strips

Fentanyl test strips

Test strips can't detect all versions of fentanyl. But they can reveal the most common versions in a drug. This can save lives.

Healing medications

Medications that treat opioid use disorder-like "bupe" (buprenorphine) and methadone-work for people who take fentanyl. Ask a substance use treatment provider for more information.

There is hope

We can heal our communities by educating ourselves, supporting each other, and accepting help when we need it.

Coming to Indian Country: 988 and the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline

Why do we need 988?

Suicide is the second leading cause of death for Native youth ages 10-24. Native communities experience the highest rates of suicide amongst all racial and ethnic groups in the Unites States, and suicide rates among American Indian and Alaska Native communities rose by 118% between 1999 and 2017.

Suicide is preventable. 988 is one step in the direction of saving lives. This early intervention can reduce the burden on 911 and hospital services. 988 will move mental health and substance use services out of the shadows and into the mainstream; it will send a message that healing and getting help are normal and important parts of life.

What is 988?

988 is a direct three-digit line to trained National Suicide Prevention Lifeline crisis counselors that will go live July 16, 2022. With an easy to remember 3digit number, the Lifeline hopes to reach many more people in emotional crisis. This service is provided free of charge to the caller. Any person of any age can call or text 988; services will be available 24/7, year round. They will include a text option, translation services for non-English speakers, accessible options for people who are deaf or hard of hearing, and services for minors

When you've got a police, fire, or rescue emergency, you call 911. When you have a mental health emergency, you call/text 988.

REV. 03/2022

How will this affect my community?

The impact of 988 will vary from community to community. If your community has reliable phone and 911 services, it will now have access to 988 24/7. Community members will be able to receive confidential services during mental health emergencies with minimal involvement of police or hospitals. If you live in an area where connecting to 911 services is difficult, you may experience the same with 988. Please know that chatting via the suicide preventionlifeline.org website, texting NATIVE to the Crisis Text Line at 741741, or texting 988 when available may be the best ways to connect in these communities.
