regon Gov. Tina Kotek and First Lady Aimee Kotek Wilson spent Friday, May 17, learning about Grand Ronde culture, Tribal programs, building and housing projects. The day was capped off with a private dinner with Tribal Council and staff at Spirit Mountain Casino.

It was the governor's first time in Grand Ronde beyond Spirit Mountain Casino. During a post-visit interview with Smoke Signals, she said it definitely won't be her last.

"It was such a great visit and very jammed packed," Kotek said. "There are so many different services and wonderful buildings. It was a fantastic day. You realize that there's a lot you don't know and that's the purpose of these

Multiple agencies respond to highspeed crash outside Grand Ronde

The Tribe's Emergency Services Department and Tribal Police Department responded to a crash at exit 18B off Highway 18 in the early morning hours of Friday, May 24, along with other city, county and state law enforcement agencies. Both occupants of the vehicle were in critical condition following the crash.

By Kamiah Koch

Social media/digital journalist

In the early hours of Friday, May 24, Grand Ronde Tribal Police attempted to catch up to a speeding car on Highway 18. The driver of the vehicle was allegedly traveling at speeds exceeding 120 miles per hour.

When the driver attempted to take exit 18B, they lost control and the vehicle rolled several times.

The Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde Emergency Services Department posted on their Facebook page sharing information about the crash and the multiple agencies that responded.

"The car left the roadway, drove through a field, became airborne and began to roll in an adjacent field," the Facebook post said. "Upon CTGR Emergency Services arrival, the driver was found outside the vehicle, the car was on fire and the passenger was unable to get out of the vehicle on their own. Crews quickly extinguished the fire and extricated the passenger."

Lifeflight was activated for one of the vehicle's occupants and the other was taken to a nearby hospital via ambulance. Drones were used to search the surrounding area to ensure no other people were thrown from the vehicle.

According to Tribal Police Chief Jake McKnight, the vehicle occupants were not known to be Tribal members.

Road closures were reported by community Facebook groups but all lanes had reopened as of 6 a.m. Friday.

In the Facebook post, Grand Ronde Tribal Emergency Services thanked the multiple agencies that responded to the scene including Lifeflight, Grand Ronde Tribal Police, Oregon State Police, Polk County Sheriff's Office, Sheridan Fire District, Spirit Mountain Casino staff, Yamhill Communications Agency and Willamette Valley Communications Center.

"The whole team did a great job, including OSP, Polk County [Sheriff's Office] and Salem Police Department," Chief McKnight said.

The vehicle's occupants were in critical condition following the crash and there is no new update at this time.

Food Bank news

The Grand Ronde Food Bank – iskam məkhmək haws – is operated by Marion-Polk Food Share, which has been leading the fight to end hunger since 1987 because no one should be hungry.

Recipients of SNAP, TANF, SSI or LIHEAP assistance automatically qualify for assistance at the Grand Ronde Food Bank, 9675 Grand Ronde Road. No one will be turned away in need of a food box.

"We believe that everyone deserves to have enough to eat," Food Bank Coordinator Francene Ambrose says. "You are welcome to get a food box at each of our regular weekly distributions. No one will be turned away in need of a food box."

The Food Bank will hold June food box distributions from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Fridays. In addition, there is a light food box (mostly bread and produce) distribution from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesdays. There will be no distribution on Wednesday, June 19, as the food bank will be closed for the Juneteenth holiday.

People must check in 15 minutes before closing to receive a food box on both days. If you need immediate assistance, call 211 or visit 211info.org.

Those who are unable to pick up a food box can fill out an authorized representative form and that designated person can pick up a food box on your behalf. The authorization is good for one year.

The Food Bank continues to seek volunteers to help with repacking food, putting food on the shelves, handing out food boxes, end-of-month inventory and picking up food donations at area stores.

Call to ensure someone is available to assist. People also can sign up for a monthly email for the Food Bank calendar and events, as well as follow the Food Bank on Facebook.

The Food Bank is an equal opportunity provider. Contact Ambrose at 503-879-3663 or fambrose@marionpolkfoodshare.org for more information or to volunteer. ■

Tribal Council approves application for suicide prevention grant

By Danielle Harrison

 $Smoke\ Signals\ editor$

With youth mental health concerns at an all-time high following the COVID-19 pandemic, Tribal Council approved a grant application for suicide prevention efforts at its Wednesday, May 15, meeting.

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration Garrett Lee Smith State/Tribal Youth Prevention and Early Intervention grant would be for five years and total $3.67 million.

"This grant through SAMHSA is specifically targeting suicide prevention and intervention in our community," Grants Coordinator Dana Morfin said at a Tuesday, May 14, Legislative Action Committee meeting. "We haven't received this grant before but we have received similar funding from this agency in the past...So, this grant would basically be serving as the next stepping stone and providing suicide prevention services in our community."

Morfin added that the grant would provide funding for a mental health counselor to assist with a focused suicide intervention and provide for community training opportunities similar to GONA and trauma-informed trainings that have been provided in the past.

"I want to thank you and the whole team for bringing this forward," Tribal Council member Kathleen George said. "It's obviously a tremendous spending package and we know that the services are tremendously needed. We know coming out of COVID, many of our youth are really needing help and not finding easy ways to get it. Anything we can do to be that warm reception, we definitely want to do that."

In other action, Tribal Council:

 Approved four lease applications with the Bureau of Indian Affairs Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act of 1975, which allows Tribes to carry out federal functions under a self-determination contract or self-governance compact to enter into a lease agreement for the Tribally owned or rented facility used to carry out those functions. The Department of Interior then negotiates with the Tribe or Tribal organization on eligible expenses for use of the facility and pays the Tribe for those expenses;

- Approved an agreement with Brightwheel Software that included limited waivers of sovereign immunity;
- Approved a $199,997 grant application to the Oregon Department of Education's Supporting Oregon Tribal Languages Grant;
- Approved a contract with Sculptured Construction Incorporated to perform landscaping services at Creekside Elder Housing;
- Approved a contract with Elk Mountain Construction to perform construction services for the Route 312 culvert replacement project;
- Authorized a Tribal credit card for up to $5,000 for Division Chief of Training for Emergency Services Torey Wakeland;
- Authorized a Tribal credit card for up to $5,000 for Natural Resources Department Manager Colby Drake;
- Authorized three loans from the Tribe's line of credit to Spirit Mountain Casino for the remodel of its outdoor courtyard, hotel lobby/corridor and RV park clubhouse for a total of $5.7 million;
- Approved a settlement agreement and release of claims, including a forgiveness of Tribal debt for a distressed property at Grand Meadows;
- Approved a secured loan of $600,000 from Upqwena LLC to Shasta Administrative Services;
- And denied enrolling an infant into the Tribe because they didn't meet the requirements outlined in the Tribal Constitution and Enrollment Ordinance.

Happy Dragon Restaurant closed

Happy Dragon Restaurant, located in Spirit Mountain Casino, closed its doors on April 7. It opened in June 2022.

By Danielle Harrison

Smoke Signals editor

Less than two years after it opened, the Happy Dragon Restaurant has closed its doors.

The family owned and operated eatery, located in Spirit Mountain Casino, closed on April 7, after the casino terminated its working relationship with the business.

"Spirit Mountain has made the decision to transition to a new Asian food vendor," Spirit Mountain Casino Chief Executive Officer Camille Mercier said. "This decision was carefully considered and ultimately it was decided that it was not in the best interest of Spirit Mountain to continue a working relationship with Happy Dragon."

Mercier declined to elaborate on what led to the decision. She added that there is not a date for when a new vendor will open as casino management is still exploring options for the new venue.

"I appreciate the desire for more information and acknowledge it can be frustrating that it feels like there are elements of the decision that is not shared," she said. "While we value transparency, certain details are bound by confidentiality. Rest assured, the decision was evaluated by management with expert guidance, prioritizing the best interests of the casino."

Mercier said that there was no truth to the rumors of an FBI investigation into the business.

"To address any concerns regarding the rumor of a FBI investigation, our gaming commission's executive director has confirmed that there's not a FBI investigation and the executive team at SMC can confirm that there has been no contact with the FBI on this issue."

Happy Dragon was one of several new dining options at the casino that began in 2022, including Italian restaurant Amore, the 10 Barrel Brewing Hop Yard and the Mexican-style restaurant Jalapenos.

Owner and head chef LiNan Feng graduated from Taishan Culinary School in China and completed an internship as a master chef at Nan Hai Yu Cun Restaurant and Hotel in Guangzhou in Canton, China. He also has worked at Saigon Chinese Restaurant and Foshan Restaurant in Canton, as well.

He opened the first Happy Dragon location in 2013 in Portland, managed by his daughter, Emily. The second location at Spirit Mountain Casino was managed by his sons, Chris and Ben. The Portland location is still open. ■ service members owe to our World War II generation, who with the support and help of our World War I veterans, returned home from the battlefields of Europe and the South Pacific to fight and advocate for the establishment of a comprehensive system of veteran benefits and resources that we enjoy today."

Taylor also acknowledged the 80th anniversary of D-Day on June 6. D-Day marked the beginning of the liberation of France and the rest of Western Europe from German occupation, resulting in the unconditional surrender of Germany and the end of World War II in Europe less than a year later.

"We humbly and gratefully acknowledge all of the courageous souls who fought and died on that terrible day," Taylor said. "We remember their sacrifice, their valor and their grace, for while we stand amid these beautiful granite monuments which were dedicated in 2003, we must never forget that the names forever etched represent a precious life."

Molly Leno read aloud the names being added to the memorial and Reyn Leno made an impromptu speech to close the ceremony.

"I always want to acknowledge Steve Bobb Sr.," he said. "He designed this memorial and did most of the work...We served together in the Marines in Vietnam less than a mile away from each other."

Bobb was the longtime Memorial Day event organizer and Tribal Elder who walked on in August 2022.

He also designed the memorial, which features a man and woman dressed in traditional Native clothing standing side by side while reaching for the sky.

The six pillars at the West Valley Veterans Memorial feature the names of Tribal and community members from Grand Ronde, Willamina and Sheridan who served in the four major branches of the military – Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

The addition of six names this year increased the number of those honored on all six pillars to 2,388.

The memorial had four pillars until 2023, when the Tribe received a $33,000 grant from Oregon State Parks to install two new black granite slab pillars at the memorial because the ones containing names of Army and Navy veterans were reaching capacity.

This was the 21st Memorial Day celebration held at the West Valley Veterans Memorial, which was dedicated in May 2003, because the 2020 event was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Road 690 gates closed

The Natural Resources Department will be conducting commercial thinning operations through its logging contractor along Road 690 in the Reservation forest. For protection of public safety, Tribal resources and contractor equipment, the gates at the upper and lower ends of the Road 690 crossover route will be temporarily closed and locked for the duration of operations. Vehicular access will be limited to administrative and operational use.

The roads will remain open to non-motorized uses, although visitors are advised to stay safely away from commercial thinning units and equipment.

Operations along Road 690 are expected to be complete this summer and the Natural Resources Department will announce when the road is reopened to motorized vehicles. ■

Tribal nonemergency text line

The Grand Ronde Tribal Police Department has a nonemergency text line at 541-921-2927.

"If you have a nonemergency situation or question, feel free to contact my officer via text through this line," said Grand Ronde Tribal Police Chief Jake McKnight. "When one of my officers receives the text, they will call you back when they have time."

McKnight said that emergency situations still require calling 911. For more information, contact McKnight at 503-879-1474. ■ visits, to really get an opportunity to spend quality time to see things and listen to people and to just hear their stories. I feel very thankful, as does the First Lady, to be able to do this. Everyone put a lot of effort into making sure we got good conversations so I'm just very appreciative."

Kotek gained insights on Tribal sovereignty

Gov. Kotek toured the Research Center at Chachalu Tribal Museum & Cultural Center, Native Plant Nursery at the Tribe's Natural Resources Department, the Tribe's new homeownership project Tipsu-ili'i, the new Creekside Elders Housing Phase III development, chinuk wawa skul and the grand opening of the new public health building, which was named the Cheryle A. Kennedy Public Health Clinic in honor of longtime Tribal Council Chairwoman Kennedy and her dedication to healthcare.

Kotek said her two favorite aspects of the visit were visiting the Chinuk Wawa Immersion Program at the chink wawa skul and a stop at the Grand Ronde Cemetery, where Kennedy reflected on the difficult years before the Tribe was restored and the work that went into rebuilding a nation after Restoration.

"Those were moments throughout the day that just stay with me," Kotek said. "The sheer joy of watching the students at Chinuk Wawa dancing for us and listening to the drumming, you just

"For her to share what it was like when termination happened and when the land that the cemetery was on was the only land and how hard it was having it be that only space to try and bring people together, and what it was like to be among the ancestors and whether that was the right place to be...She shared how she did a lot of her work off the cemetery early on because culturally, that was a difficult place to be. Just listening to the pain and the hope of that moment that she was sharing was a particularly impactful moment for us," she said.

Kotek added that by the end of the day, she had gained additional insights on Tribal sovereignty and the Grand Ronde Tribe in particular.

"It's always a reaffirmation in these visits to be reminded of the comprehensive nature of Tribal governments, the importance of self-governance and local leadership that you see being exhibited," she said. "The Grand Ronde do such amazing work in a variety of ways... You really do get a deeper sense that this is a sovereign nation and as governor, it's a good reminder that we have to be strong partners with our sovereign nations. They are doing incredible work."

During a Legislative Action Committee meeting on Tuesday, May 21, Tribal Council member Lisa Leno reflected on the visit.

"It was an amazing day," she said. "We started at Chachalu and then we were able to have a great presentation on Tumwata Village and ended at the health clinic and it was a great day. We had a lot of opportunity to get to share the amazing work that is happening here and all the important legislation and work we are looking forward to in the next few years. I think she left here feeling really good about her visit as we did with her."

History was made today'

By Danielle Harrison

Getting the keys to your first home is typically a memorable event, but it was even more so for Tribal members Bryanna Rue and Jordyn McKnight, when they and their spouses became the first homeowners in the Tribe's new development, Tipsu-ili'i on Thursday, May 9.

A ribbon cutting was held to mark the occasion, attended by Tribal Housing Department staff, General Manager Angie Blackwell, Tribal Council staff and council members Kathleen George, Jon A. George, Brenda Tuomi, Denise Harvey, Secretary Michael Cherry and Vice Chair Chris Mercier.

Kathleen George offered an invocation, and Mercier and Tuomi cut the ribbon.

"History was made today," Tribal General Manager Angie Blackwell said.

Three years ago, the development at McPherson Road was just another field on the Grand Ronde Reservation. Despite some unexpected setbacks, the 20 homes have now been complete and are quickly garnering interested buyers. As of June 1, 16 of the homes are under contract, seven have closed and two of the remaining four have applicants. The price range for the majority of the homes is $275,000 to $310,000.

There are two larger homes priced higher than that range at $350,000 and $370,000.

Bryanna and her husband, Zach, began searching for their own home two years ago. Like many young buyers, they found it challenging to find something within their budget that was a good fit. The Tribe does help first-time homebuyers with a down payment assistance grant of up to $20,000, but given rising home costs and interest rates, homeownership can still be a stretch for many.

"We are really excited about this," Bryanna said, as she stood on the deck of her brand new, four-bedroom home. "The Housing Department has been great with helping us through this whole process... It was a long process, especially if you've never bought a house before, a lot of the lingo was hard to understand."

"We've had good guidance the whole time," Zach said.

Both Bryanna and Zach are looking forward to living closer to the community and to work.

"We both work out here and I'm excited to be able to customize this home," Zach said. "Grand Ronde is a beautiful place to be in."

Added Bryanna, "I'm so excited to decorate the house."

Their advice for other young Tribal members who want to buy a home is not to give up.

"Stick with the process and ask for help from the Housing Department or people you know who can give you good advice," Bryanna said. "We're really thankful for this opportunity and excited to be here."

McKnight and his wife, Rebecca, are thrilled to be in their first home after nearly five years of sometimes frustrating searching.

"I feel like I can breathe again," she said.

"A lot of hard work and dedication has paid off and it's really nice," Jordyn said. "Just seeing the kiddos play and enjoying themselves is so nice to see."

The couple and their two daughters, Sutton, 2, and Romie, 1, are excited to make the new three-bedroom home their own.

"I would definitely say the leniency in doing what you want with the place and making it your own rather than renting is what I'm most looking forward to doing," Jordyn said. "Having the kids being raised here in the community is a plus."

"Having more room for the girls is a huge plus and also being able to make things feel more like us, in our own space and we're able to give our girls security in the future and possibly their kids," Rebecca said.

Later that day, after seeing the two families explore their new homes, Blackwell sent out an email thanking everyone who helped in the process.

"What a beautiful morning to hold the ribbon cutting and blessing for Tipsu-ili'i," she said. "I know it was a long time in the making. Lands, Legal, Housing and Engineering and Planning collaborated closely to bring this project to fruition. I want to especially thank Michele (Plummer) in Housing for coordinating our internal departments, title company and lenders to facilitate the sale of the homes. This was unchartered territory but you all took on the challenge and brought a decades old dream true at last."

Tribal Engineering & Community Development Department Manager Ryan Webb has been involved in the process since the beginning three years ago, when the new homes were little more than an empty field.

"It is a struggle to put into words the significance of handing over keys to the first couple of Tribal members," he said. "I stood in that field three years ago and there was nothing, it was just another agricultural field in a rural community. I stood there during the ribbon cutting ceremony and looked at all the beautiful homes and I know I had a significant part in that transformation. I always knew when I entered into the engineering field that I wanted to be a public servant and help shape communities and neighborhoods, and in my career I have managed a lot of projects to help create livable communities, but none of them come close to the impact this development will have on the Grand Ronde community...I am truly grateful to the Tribe for giving me the opportunity to be a part of this project and create a great neighborhood for generations to come."

It's been 26 years since Grand Meadows, located on Tribal property at McPherson and Grand Ronde roads, opened a 36-lot manufactured home subdivision to Tribal families. Housing Department officials have repeatedly said a second development is long overdue.

In 2020, Reece and Associates of Albany was selected to conduct a property development plan for the new site. The first phase includes 20 single-family homes on 10,000-square-foot lots.

The Tribe's current housing options typically have occupation rates of 94 percent or higher, and lack of available market-rate homes has been a sticking point in Tribal members moving to Grand Ronde and working in the community. ■

Study finds evidence edible camas bulbs intentionally harvested

CORVALLIS — An Oregon State University study found evidence that Indigenous groups in the Pacific Northwest were intentionally harvesting edible camas bulbs at optimal stages of the plant's maturation as far back as 3,500 years ago.

The findings contribute to the growing body of research around traditional ecological knowledge and practices, demonstrating the care and specificity with which Indigenous groups have been stewarding and cultivating natural resources for millennia.

"If you think about salmon as being a charismatic species that people are very familiar with, camas is kind of the plant equivalent," Molly Carney, an assistant professor of anthropology in OSU's College of Liberal Arts and lead author on the study, said. "It is one of those species that really holds up greater ecosystems, a fundamental species which everything is related to."

Camas, a blue flower that grows throughout the Northwest, is referred to in Indigenous calendars across the region with the plant's growth stages used as a seasonal benchmark.

It is often included in traditional First Food ceremonies, in which Tribal communities mark the coming of spring with the first salmon run or the first edible roots after a long winter, Carney said.

Camas bulbs must be baked for two to three days to render them edible. Once soft, the bulbs taste a bit like sweet potato, Carney said. Traditional baking was done in underground ovens using heated rocks.

The archaeological record Carney researched included the remains of these large pit ovens. After cooking the bulbs, Indigenous peoples processed the camas and could store it for months at a time.

In the recent study, published in the Holocene, Carney examined camas bulbs from the Willamette Valley dating back 8,000 years to determine when harvesting was done. Similar to how tree rings help determine age, counting the interior leaf scales of a camas bulb does the same.

Thomas Connolly from the Museum of Natural and Cultural History at the University of Oregon was a study co-author, and the project was approved by the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde Historic Preservation Office. ■

The Marketplace is seeking Native American and community members who create handmade products that are at least 80 percent crafted by hand or produced locally.

To secure a spot, vendors should contact Rob Henly at 503-879-3721 to obtain details and confirm a spot as a vendor.

Fees, rules and guidelines will be available to sign, along with a table assignment, at 9 a.m. Friday before every event. Marketplace spots will be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis.

The vendor fee will be $30 and provides access to one table, one Flex linen, two chairs and a black linen to cover the table overnight.

The Marketplace will be located in the Events Center hallway with space for 35 vendor tables. Table placement will be determined through a lottery process at 9 a.m. Friday before the event. Additional space up to 5 feet beside and in front of tables will be available for clothing racks.

In addition, vendors can temporarily park vehicles in the roundabout behind the hotel for unloading and loading between 9 and 10 a.m. and from 6 to 7 p.m., respectively.

"We aim to create an inclusive and vibrant Marketplace that honors the craftsmanship of Native American and local artisans," a press release said. "We hope these guidelines provide clarity and excitement as we prepare to host the Marketplace."

Vendors are asked to contact Henly with any Marketplace-related questions instead of approaching casino staff during the event. ■

Grand Ronde artist's work featured in Newport gallery

NEWPORT - Grand Ronde Tribal member Leland Butler is a featured artist at an exhibition, "Where Waters Meet," which celebrates the next generation of Indigenous creators. It will be on display from Saturday, June 1 to Sunday, July 28 at the Newport Visual Arts Center and in the Olive Street Gallery Newport Performing Arts Center.

The exhibition features Butler and four other artists from diverse backgrounds and Tribes who will present their work throughout four galleries and two separate buildings, showcasing photography, videography, installation, painting, sculpture and basketry.

In the VAC Runyan Gallery, Leonard D. Harmon (Lenape/Nanticoke) and Butler will present their collaborative contemporary exhibit, "Walking on Eggshells." The show will feature photography, film, sculpture and installation components.

Curiosity about self, land and people led Butler to photography a decade ago, according to a press release from the arts council.

"His sophisticated and often mysterious compositions explore the duality of light and shadow," the release said.

Exhibits at the arts center are free to the public and can typically be viewed from noon to 4 p.m., Wednesday through Sunday, at 777 N.W.

Exhibits at the Olive Street Gallery can be viewed from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday to Friday, and starting one hour before ticketed events, at 777 West Olive St.

2024 fishing information

Where can you fish?

With a "NEW" Tribal harvest license, you can now fish in five different wildlife management units as well as the marine zone (50mi) adjacent to those units. "See fig.1"

These five units are:

- Willamette
- Trask
- Stott Mountain
- Wilson
- Santiam "modified boundary"
- CTGR MOA Marine Zone

Fishing on the Columbia River fishing within the MOA approved areas is limited to Oregon waters only! (See fig. 2) Chart plotters are recommended! Downloadable maps are available from the Natural Resources Department.

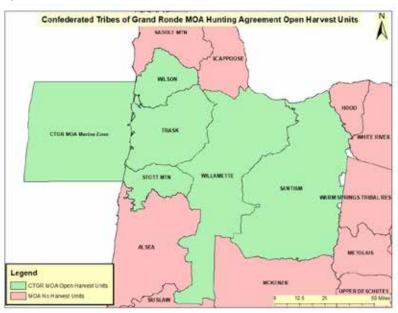

Fig. 1 MOA open harvest areas

What can you fish?

With a "NEW" Tribal harvest license, you can now fish for all species that do not require a special ODFW fishing tag. You are still restricted to all ODFW rules, including daily bag limits, gear restrictions, zone restrictions and seasons. No commercial fishing allowed. Expanded shellfishing coming in 2024, stay tuned for more information!

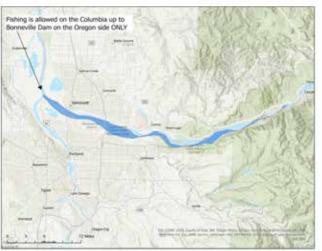

Fig. 2 Oregon Waters on Columbia River

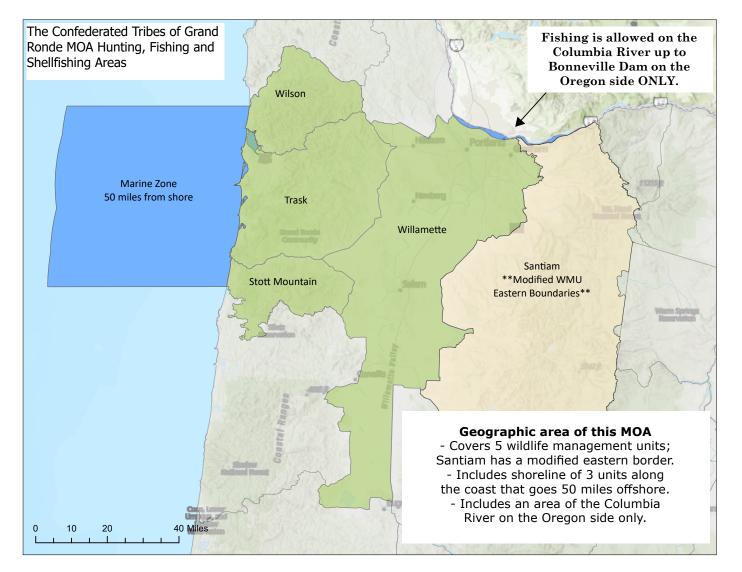

For species that do require a special fishing tag (salmon, steelhead, sturgeon and halibut), you can come to the Natural Resources Department to acquire a "combined angling tag or hatchery harvest card" (See fig. 3). Tags MUST be reported to NRD within 30 days after tag expiration.

All Rules and regulations including bag limits follow state regulations.

Marine Reserves are closed for harvest. Please refer to oregonmarinereserves.com/rules for more information.

Shellfishing outside of the MOA?

Outside of these areas require a state license.

Regulation changes!

It is important to check current state regulations before you head out as regulations can change within the season and from year to year.

Peace and Dignity Journeys to stop in Grand Ronde

The 2024 Peace and Dignity Journeys will visit Grand Ronde on Tuesday, June 18 and leave Wednesday, June 19.

Peace & Dignity Journeys have held Native American spiritual runs across North and South America every four years since 1992, with the exception of 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The 2024 Peace and Dignity Journeys began on May 1 in Alaska and Argentina, when participants embarked on a seven month prayer run, which will end on Nov. 29 at El Cuaca, Colombia.

When participants reach their destination for the day, they will have a circle ceremony with the local community.

The run in Oregon will stop in Portland, Grand Ronde, Corvallis, Eugene, Reedsport, Coos Bay and Gold Beach before moving south to California.

This year's run is dedicated to the concept of Tlahtoa, which encompasses introspection, speaking from the heart, truth and breath of life.

Grand Ronde Tribal Elder Carol Logan is leading the preparations for the stay locally.

For more information or to participate in the run during the Oregon stops, visit pdjrun.com or contact Mel Huey at 541-255-2741. ■

Watchlist: 'Farmington High School graduate told to remove Native American beaded graduation cap'

(Editor's note: It is estimated that there are approximately 149 billion videos on YouTube, and the number continues to grow. Grand Ronde Tribal member and Social Media/Digital Journalist Kamiah Koch sifts through those videos twice a month to recommend a worthwhile Indigenous video to watch. Follow her bimonthly recommendations and enjoy!)

By Kamiah Koch

Social media/digital journalist

An Indigenous high school graduate's story was picked up by news channels all over the country after school staff removed her graduation cap adorned with traditional Native beading and a feather instead of a tassel.

According to KRQE, a local New Mexico news channel, the Farmington High School staff deemed the cap broke the ceremony dress code, which did not allow personalization of cap and gowns.

A viral video of the incident shows staff asking the teen, Genesis White Bull, to remove her beaded cap during the national anthem and handing her a plain cap to wear.

Photos from the ceremony are included in the video showing other students with decorated caps who were not asked to remove them.

"We are not going to ask anymore how to be Hunkpapa Lakota," White Bull's mother Brenda White Bull said. "They don't have the right to tell me or my daughter how to dress, how to adorn ourselves. All that was put into that beadwork, everything that symbolizes, was done with prayer from my family to give to her."

KRQE reports that the school put out a statement justifying the removal of the cap due to the school policy that cap and gowns can't be altered.

However, the school did acknowledge the situation could have been handled better.

"White Bull says the law supersedes school policy and says in taking the cap away the staffers violated New Mexico law which is similar to the Federal Crown Act but also includes headdresses," KRQE reported.

New Mexico Senator Harold Pope Jr. sponsored the legislations and was interviewed by KRQE.

"The intent was to make sure something like this didn't happen," Pope said. "I understand there are rules, there are things that happen at schools, but we also have New Mexico law and we want to protect folks from being discriminated and being harmed on their cultural and religious beliefs."

Farmington High School sits at the border of the Navajo Nation Reservation and is surrounded by several other reservations in New Mexico.

Bordering the Grand Ronde reservation is Willamina School District, where most Tribal students living on the reservation attend school.

Smoke Signals reached out the Willamina High School Principal Jami Fluke to ask what their policy is for graduation caps.

"One of the things I really love about graduation is it is a very formal ceremony, yet each student is allowed to decorate their caps to make it very personal." Fluke said in an email. "Some students wear other decorations (weaves, flowers, sashes, etc.) that reflect their heritage or represent something that their family gave them for the ceremony. Our Native students (especially) start coming in early to see if they can get their caps so they can have them beaded, which takes extra time."

You can watch the entire video "Farmington High School graduate told to remove Native American beaded graduation cap" from KRQE at www.youtube.com/watch?v=pNqDtsZCK3A. ■

Migraines and headaches

June is a crucial time to highlight the challenges faced by those living with headaches and migraines. The symptoms of migraines often cause people living with them to withdraw from their daily lives. Others may refrain from identifying themselves as a migraine patient due to the stigma surrounding the disease and the lack of compassion surrounding its symptoms.

	Symptoms	Frequency	Triggers
Tension-type headache	Band of intense pressure around the head	Chronic: 15 or more days per month Episodic: Fewer than 15 days per month	Stress, jaw clenching, hunger, depression, lack of sleep, sleep apnea, arthritis, poor posture
Cluster headaches	Severe pain on one side of the head, including behind the eye	Daily headaches lasting weeks or months before remission lasting months or years	Smoking, alcohol, certain smells, physical activity
Hemi crania	Persistent headaches, usually on one side of the head, that fluctuate in severity	Chronic: 3-5 headaches every day Remitting: Daily headaches for up to 6 months, then a pain-free period for weeks or months	Alcohol, physical exertion
Migraine	Intense, throbbing headaches, usually on one side of the head	Up to several times a week, for a few hours or days	Stress, tiredness, anxiety, depression, caffeine, skipping meals, not getting enough physical activity

Migraines and diagnosis:

Migraines are the primary headache disorder, which are accompanied by nausea, vomiting and/ or photophobia. It is sometimes started with a short lasting aura of unilateral, reversible visual, sensory or other symptoms. Migraines most often begin at puberty and generally affects those ages between 35 and 45 years, although childhood migraines are not uncommon. They are more common in women. The exact cause of migraines is currently unknown but it is thought to result from the release of pain producing inflammatory substances around the nerves and blood vessels of the head.

If you have migraines or a family history of migraines, a specialist trained in treating headaches, known as a neurologist will likely diagnose based on your medical history, symptoms, and physical and neurological examination. If they are unusual, complex, or suddenly get worse, there are tests to rule out other causes such as an MRI or CT scan.

Migraine and headache hygiene:

Migraines and headaches are not predictable, but simple things like changes to a normal routine can lead to a severely disabling migraine attack. It is unrealistic to expect anyone to completely change a certain lifestyle. However, certain things are easy to do to maintain and assist with long-term prevention:

- Maintain regular sleep patterns. Go to sleep and wake up at the same time each day.
- Exercise regularly.
- Eat regular meals, do not skip meals and eat a good, healthy breakfast.
- Reduce stress. Limit stress by avoiding conflicts and resolving disputes calmly.
- Avoiding known triggers.

Men's Health Month

June is National Men's Health Month. This is a time to remind men of the health issues they face and what they can do to take charge of their health. Men are significantly less likely than women to see a doctor or report symptoms to a health care provider.

Did you know?

Did you know that only 60% of men go to the doctor for a yearly, routine checkup, and 40% will not go until something is seriously wrong? Despite these statistics, only 20% of those who do see a doctor report that they only made an appointment so that their loved one or significant other will stop "nagging them."

Facts and statistics:

- The overall mortality rate is 41% higher for men than women, and it's higher for men for eight out of 10 leading causes of death – including heart disease, cancer, stroke and diabetes.
- 31% of men suffer depression in their lifetime and 9% of men have daily feelings of depression or anxiety. However, only a quarter of these men talk to a mental health professional and only a third take medication. Pay attention to signs of depression and don't be afraid to seek help.
- Prostate cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths for men in the United States. A man is 2 to 3 times more likely to get prostate cancer if his father, brother or son had it. Talk to your doctor about having a PSA and DRE levels checked.
- Erectile dysfunction affects nearly 30 million men of all ages across the United States. If you're having problems, see a urologist and make sure it's not an early warning sign for something more serious like heart disease, high blood pressure or high blood sugar.

Recommended screenings by age:

Ages 18-39	Ages 40-49	Ages 50+
General health screening Every 2-3 years: Blood and urine tests, blood pressure checks EKG at 30 years old to establish a baseline Discuss STD testing with your provider	General health screening Every 2 years: Blood tests, and blood pressure checks Colorectal cancer screening for age 45+ Discuss STD testing Discuss prostate and testicular screenings	General health screen Every year: Blood tests, blood pressure checks, colon cancer screening Every 5-10 years: Colonoscopy Discuss STD testing Discuss prostate and testicular screenings

Three reasons to get an oral cancer screening:

- It's easy. The dentist and hygienist will do this type of screening during your exams. The most commons places for oral cancer is your tongue, the floor of your mouth and insides of your lip.
- It can save your life. Early detection is important. Oral cancer has an 85% survival rate when caught early.
- It will give you peace of mind. Many times we may find "lumps and bumps" in our mouths and it's better to be sure.
- $Please\ make\ sure\ to\ stay\ on\ top\ of\ your\ exams\ so\ we\ can\ get\ you\ screened.$
